Grief and Feeling of Loss.

New York, May 19.—Mr. H. H. Rogers died at his home, No. 3, East 78th street, about seven o'clock this morning. He arose about six and about half past six he began to feel ill, complaining of numbness and nausea. Before anything could be done he sank and died.

He died on Friday last, at his country home, Fair Haven, Mass., and was buried yesterday.

Mr. Rogers was for many years one of the most prominent financiers in the country. He took a leading part in all of the enterprises undertaken by the Standard Oil group of companies, was vice president of the Standard Oil company, and was the driving spirit in the organization of the Standard Oil company. He was president of the company for many years. He was also a member of the board of directors of the Atchafalaya, Topeka, Kan., the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul, and the Union Pacific.

News of the death of Mr. Rogers came as a surprise to Wall street. Mr. Rogers was at the office of the Standard Oil company yesterday and appeared to be in good spirits. His death has been failing somewhat for some time past and he had curtailed his financial operations to some extent on that account.

The death of Mr. Rogers follows upon the completion of the Standard Oil company's project of the construction of a new line of railroads, which will be a very considerable addition to the company's fortune. This was the building of the Atchafalaya, a line of railroads, which will be a very considerable addition to the company's fortune. LEAVES

Hospital Cured and Misses Several of His Vertebrae.

New York, May 19.—Steven Barnes, whose back was broken on April 1, by a fall from a scaffold, will be able to leave the White Plains hospital this afternoon. In the fall of twenty feet Barnes' back was shattered and as a result the lower part of his body and legs were paralyzed. In the hospital the doctor cut away the splintered bones and his recovery since then has been remarkable. It is said to be one of the few cases on record where a man with a broken back has been completely cured.

expected," he added. "I had no knowledge that he was sick. When asked for an expression as to the effect Mr. Rogers' death would have upon the stock market and the business world, Mr. Rockefeller replied:

"Mr. Rogers' death is a great personal loss to the business world, but it is only a personal loss. I am not familiar with his business affairs, but have every reason to believe that they were all in good shape. Mr. Rogers has not been actively connected with the affairs of the Standard Oil company for over two years."

Continuing Mr. Rockefeller said: "I have seen Mr. Rogers but twice during the past five years, and on both of these occasions as well as before I urged him with tears in my eyes not to work so hard. I also pleaded with the members of his immediate family whenever I met them to urge him not to work so hard. But he was so energetic he would not take enough rest. His death is a great loss to me."

Fair Haven, Mass., May 19.—The funeral of Henry H. Rogers, who died at his home in New York today, will be held here on Saturday.

The county, appealed from this decision in May of this year, and this appeal has since been argued.

ATTENDANCE LARGE

At Session of National Good Roads Convention Today.

CONGRESS TOLD
TO BUILD ROADS

With Money it is Now Expending in Providing for Warfare.

Baltimore, May 19.—An increased attendance in the number of delegates and spectators was noted at today's session of the second annual convention of the National Good Roads Association. Governor Culler again presided and among those who spoke was United States Senator John H. Bankhead, of Alabama.

Senator Bankhead argued that there were no constitutional barriers preventing congress from appropriating money for the construction of good roads. He advised the convention to send resolutions to congress immediately urging an appropriation as soon as possible for the purpose.

He criticized the government for its expenditures of millions in the preparation for war, saying that "if the government would devote some of the useless time and energy that it is expending on the army and navy to the building up of the American farm home and roads and to the education of American boys and girls, the people of this country would raise up and call congress blessed."

MISS TROTTER

MISSIONARY IN THE SLUMS OF NEW YORK

Held Prisoner for Three Days in Miserable
Old Shack

BY THREE MEN WHO TRIED TO

Force Her to Reveal the Whereabouts of Girl
Taken from Them.

By Prayer She Brought Repentance to One and Her Release.

New York, May 19.—Miss Emma Trotter, a missionary for the Florence Crittenton Circle at Asbury Park, related today her remarkable experience as a prisoner of three men who, after having captured her, had brutally beaten and dragged her, held her for three days. Following her escape last night from the shack of her captors, Miss Trotter made her way to the Florence Crittenton mission at Asbury Park and was then so weak that she was sent to a hospital.

A telephone message requested Miss Trotter to call at a certain house in a good district of Asbury Park early Saturday night in connection with her work as a missionary. As the door was opened she was grabbed by three men who dragged her into the house. There, she says, the men demanded knowledge of the whereabouts of Charlotte M. Graves, a girl who had been taken from them a week before by the Florence Crittenton Circle and sent to a home. When she denied them the information one of them threw his arms around her neck while another poured a drug down her throat. It was not until Monday night that she recovered consciousness, Miss Trotter reported, and then she found herself alone in the shack on the outskirts of the city with one of her captors. She prayed with this man and caused him to repent that he permitted her to escape late last night.

The police, after a hurried investigation and visits to the location described by Miss Trotter, said today that there is no doubt that Miss Trotter is telling the truth.

RAILROAD BRIDGE
SAVED BY BOY.

Hopkinsville, Ky., May 19.—Lewis Williams, a 12-year-old boy, by his presence of mind and prompt action prevented the destruction of the Louisville & Nashville railroad bridge, two miles north of the city, and probably averted disastrous accidents.

While walking near the railroad he discovered the trestle on fire, and from the nearest telephone communicated his discovery to the railway station in Hopkinsville. A switch engine was at once loaded with men and water and a record-breaking run was made to the burning bridge. The flames were quickly extinguished and the bridge repaired.

COMPANY MUST PAY ITS POLICY.

Richmond, Va., May 19.—A final decree has been issued in the case of the petition of the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company to require a hearing in the case of the heirs of J. Samuel McCue, former mayor of Charlottesville, who was murdered several years ago, by the United States circuit court of appeals. The petition of the insurance company was denied. This means that the Northwestern Mutual will be forced to pay the death claim of $20,000 on the life of McCue. The decision is significant in that it means that life insurance companies hereafter will be required to pay policies in cases where the policyholders have been legally executed.

President Dabney of the Cincinnati University made this declaration yesterday concerning the action of the conference of nineteen New England colleges last week in Boston, where a resolution was passed condemning cheering at college sports and sports as "un-sportsmanlike" and "unworthy."

On the ground that it tended to distract the players of opposing teams. "Next time they will be passing resolutions condemning pink lemonade and hissing and college fellows," continued Dr. Dabney. ST. LOUIS

Judge Rules, Extending Meal Is Supper, Forcing Dinner.

East St. Louis, May 19.—Judge Moyer, in the city court, has ruled that the evening meal is supper, not dinner. The question arose in the suit of Miss Grace Lowe against a confectionery company, the defendant being charged with having served the plaintiff with ice cream at a graduates' feast which poisoned her. When witnesses from the graduating class were asked in court what they ate at the feast the dinner while others called it supper until confused jurors got the court to make a ruling.

Bloody Fields of Battle.

TAFT ENTERTAINED
BY TWO OF STATES,

Old Virginia Extending to Him Her Choicest Hospitality.

He Witnessed Unveiling of Two Memorials to Heroes.

Petersburg, Va., May 19.—Paying a tribute alike to the soldiers of the north and of the south, President Taft today witnessed the unveiling of an heroic statue in bronze erected at Fort Mahone on the Petersburg battlefields, in memory of General Hartman and the Pennsylvania volunteers who fell in the stubborn fight about this outpost of the confederate capital. The president arrived in Petersburg shortly after 9 o'clock. His private car, the regular Washington train at Richmond, and was run as a special from there. The president went immediately to Fort Stedman where a tablet was unveiled and then proceeded to Fort Mahone where he made his address of the day.

The day was warm but the sky was overcast throughout the morning and the heat was not seriously felt. "We could not dedicate this beautiful and enduring memorial," Mr. Taft declared, "to the volunteer soldiers of Pennsylvania with such a sense of its justice and appropriateness had they not been confronted by an enemy capable of resisting their assaults with equal vigor and fortitude. Pennsylvania's pride must be in the victory achieved by her men against so brave, resolute and resourceful an enemy."

The president declared that the battle between the states had to be fought and that enduring good had come of it. At Petersburg, Virginia, President Taft said in part:

"My fellow citizens: We are met today on the soil of Virginia to dedicate a memorial to the bravery of the sons of Pennsylvania exhibited in a contest to the death with the sons of Virginia and the south. We stand here in the center of the bloodiest and most critical operations of the last year of the civil war only a few miles distant from that dramatic scene at Appomattox between Grant and Lee which marked the end of the terrible struggle."

"To Pennsylvania as one of the great states of the union engaged in a struggle to save it, fell the burden of furnishing many thousands of men in every part of the line of attack, but especially in the army of the Potomac was the force of her people and their devotion to the cause felt."

"As time has passed," the president continued, "the bitterness of the terrible struggle has passed away. We cannot praise the loyal and brave sons of Pennsylvania without praising the sons of the south who fought, while at times they were scantily clad and on short rations and were not able to sustain their strength and keep them from feeling the pangs of hunger, men who fought until they could fight no longer because of their thinning ranks and scanty ammunition. These sons of the south gave up the struggle long after any soldiers except the tried and seasoned soldiers of northern Virginia would have surrendered."

WHEELER

Asks Supreme Court to Advance
Putnam County Case.

Columbus, May 19.—Superintendent Wayne B. Wheeler, of the anti-saloon league, filed a motion in the supreme court today asking for the advancement of the case of A. Heidebaugh, probate judge of Putnam county, against three on relation of Herman H. Becker, involving the contested local option election in that county. The case was carried to the county but a mistake was made in tallying the returns by which it was made to appear that Heidebaugh had won. As Judge Heidebaugh had participated in the campaign he was disqualified.

delivered the oration and Miss Mabel Jones, of Boston, pulled the silken string which released the flags around the tablet.

From Fort Stedman the president and his party were driven the mile and a half to Fort Mahone where the Hartman statue has been constructed at a cost of $50,000. Every inch of the way traversed by the chief executive witnessed bloody battles during the siege of Petersburg. Old soldiers in blue and gray rode side by side from Stedman to Mahone. The flags were released by a committee of women selected from the north and south, among them Mrs. William Mahone, wife of the confederate general for whom the fort was named.

The oration was delivered by Major Isaac B. Brown, president of the Pennsylvania battlefields commission. Following this oration, which recounted the stories of the fighting about Petersburg, came the address of President Taft, whose subject was "The Union." Following his custom since becoming president Mr. Taft spoke extemporaneously. At the conclusion of the president's address, Governor Stuart, of Pennsylvania, turned the monument over to the state of Virginia, the speech of acceptance being delivered by Governor Swanson.

The luncheon arranged for the president was attended by more than 1,000 persons.

It was arranged that Mrs. Taft should be the guest of thirty women at luncheon, but illness prevented her acceptance.

During the evening the president will hold a public reception at a lavette. The president's party leaves at 1:20 tonight for Charlotte, N. C.

HUGH MCGANN DOWN

Six Times for Count of Nine in His Bout
With Ketchel.

TWICE KNOCKED
THROUGH ROPES.

Was Child's Play for the Champion of Middleweight Class.

Pittsburg, May 19.—Six times last night Hugh McGann was down for a count of nine seconds in his six-round bout with Stanley Ketchel, champion middle weight of the world. Five times in the sixth round he was saved from a knockout by a second. Twice he was knocked through the ropes, once clear across the press table into the seats of spectators. Ketchel appeared to toy with his opponent and probably would have knocked him out in a few more rounds. Only the cheering voices of his champions from the audience inspired McGann several times to get up on his feet again after being all but knocked out. For in flats or detached houses and needs hard and landed several times on the champion, but he apparently exhausted himself in the early rounds and could not face the powerful blows of his antagonist after the first half of the bout.

No decision was permissible under the Pennsylvania laws. Never before has so large an audience witnessed a boxing bout in Pittsburg. Six thousand persons crowded Duquesne Garden, among them being men prominent in financial, political and business circles. Three preliminary bouts were pulled off. Young Jack O'Brien besting Young Blackall, both of Pittsburg; Mattie McAniff besting Jim Conlon, both of Pittsburg; and Jim Perry, of Denver, having decidedly the better of Sandy Williams, of Kansas City, each in a six round bout. Prior to the first round Tony Caponi, of Chicago, issued a challenge to the winner of the bout.

WILLIAM JONES

WHO TRIED TO KILL GUITEAU, THE MISCREANT,

Who Assassinated Garfield, Placed on Trial for Murder.

SELF DEFENSE
IS HIS PLEADING

For Taking Life of Man Who Worked for Him on N. Y. Farm.

Was Never Indicted for His Sensational Shots at Guiteau.

New York, May 19.—William (Bill) Jones, who many years ago attracted national interest when he attempted to avenge the killing of President Garfield, by shooting at Charles Guiteau, the assassin, while the latter was being removed from the court house to the jail in this city, was placed on trial today charged with the murder of John A. McPherson, a former marine, who was employed by Jones as a farm hand. McPherson was killed on October 11, 1908, in Jones' home about two miles from this city during a quarrel. Jones pleaded self-defense.

It was during Guiteau's trial that Jones created a nationwide sensation. One day while the trial was hearing its close, Guiteau had been placed in the prison van to be taken to the jail. Jones mounted upon a spirited animal, dashed through the crowds toward the wagon and whipping a revolver from his hip pocket fired several shots at the assassin, one of the bullets striking his head. Jones made his escape into the country. Later he was captured and brought back to this city but was never prosecuted. For years afterward he practically lived the life of a hermit on the outskirts of the city and interests in his career were revived only with his arrest charged with killing McPherson.

EMPLOYERS SIDE WAS HEARD TODAY.

Detroit, May 19.—Additional interest attached to the sessions of the interstate arbitration board today owing to the uncertainty that involved the days programme. WHEAT FOR SEEDING

Kansas Sending Out to Her Farmers Advice as to How

TO KEEP SEED
WHEAT IN PURITY.

There Are Several Things That Cause Cereal to Deteriorate.

Topeka, Kan., May 19.—The Kansas experiment station at the State Agricultural college at Manhattan, is now sending out to the farmers in the wheat belt information as to the best plan for keeping pure the wheat recently furnished for seeding purposes. During the past three years the Kansas experiment station has distributed over 5,000 bushels of well-bred wheat for seeding to the farmers of the state. This is all hard red winter of the very highest grade, and consists of Khazaf, Malakoff, improved Turkey, etc.

This wheat was planted and redistributed by the farmers receiving the original shipment and sown in large areas and fields of it are now growing in nearly every one of the 105 counties of the state. The total will aggregate some 200,000 acres. This wheat furnished the farmers by the agriculture experiment station at Manhattan, is of the great yielding capacity and harder and purer and of better quality than the wheat generally grown.

The farmers who are growing this wheat are urged to use great care in keeping the wheat pure in order to continue the distribution of the improved seed to their neighbors, and at the same time maintain the yield and high quality of the wheat grown on their own farms.

It is pointed out by Professor Ten Eyck of the state experiment station that there are several factors which cause a deterioration of wheat, and one of the principal of these is the mixture or crossing of these of different strains or varieties. The improved wheat which has been distributed from the experiment station is not absolutely pure in variety of type, but these varieties are much purer than the average wheat. One of the principal sources of mixing is from volunteer wheat, which occurs when fields are reseeded to wheat year after year. The farmers are urged to keep the wheat pure and of high quality, and the crop for seed should always be sown in a field free from volunteer wheat, which occurs when fields are reseeded to wheat year after year.

Rotation in crops is urged upon the wheat farmers of the state. They are advised, where it is possible, to plant the pure seed furnished from the experiment station on the fields that have previously been used for other crops, such as oats, barley, corn and other crops. As wheat may become mixed in the harvesting of such crops, this is especially liable to occur when the harvest is introduced into the new seed, planting it usually in small patches, and near to the other wheat. And then there is the possibility of mixing in the thrashing of the wheat and thus, it is pointed out, can only be avoided by running one or some other grain through the thrasher before the new and improved wheat is thrashed.

The Kansas State Agriculture college and experiment station connected with it is regarded as the chief industrial institution of its class in the West. This institution educates the young men and women of the farms of the state in all the branches and subjects necessary in the proper conduct of a farm or a farm home. Recently some criticism has been made because the board of regents, at a meeting, appointed a committee to visit the eastern and middle states in search of a man for president of the agricultural college. President Nichols, who has held this position for ten years, will leave the institution in July, and a new president must be elected. Governor Stubbs and the regents decided that the committee should not be confined to Kansas, but seek the best talent that could be found in the country. This brought forth criticism, and many suggested Secretary Coburn, of the state agricultural department, and also E. T. Fairchild, state superintendent of public instruction.

The Grange

This Department is Under the Auspices of the Allen County Pomona Grange, Edited by W. S. Engle, R. R. 5, Lima, to Whom All Matter for the Department Must be Addressed.

Midnight Interest in Peace.

In his National Field department in the Pennsylvania Grange News, Mortimer Whitehead in speaking of our order's birthright interest in peace says in part as follows:

"Peace on Earth, Good Will Towards Men." Ours is a great fraternity, teaching the Fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man. The Grange can truthfully be said to have a birthright interest in peace and its children should use this inheritance and say to the warlike at home and abroad, as did the Prince of Peace when upon the wild waves of the sea of Galilee he said, 'Peace be still.'"

"The Grange was conceived in peace, born of peace. The inspiration came to Father O. H. Kelley, while on a mission into the southern states at the close of the Civil War, to carry out the keynote sounded by Lincoln, and taken up by Grant in the words, 'Let us have peace.' The opening sentence of our declaration of purposes: 'United by the strong and faithful ties of agriculture,' applied not to individuals alone, but to all nations, all sections, all states, all creeds, all parties, men and women alike, uniting all—to labor together for the good of our order, our country and mankind."

"It was the sentiment of peace that prompted President Andrew Jackson through the commissioner of agriculture to send a representative of the agriculture of the government into the south and among the farmers to see what could be done to place the south once more on its feet, wrecked almost ruined, as it was by the late conflict. The man selected for this mission of peace was O. H. Kelley and it was while out in this work that the inspiration came to him for an organization that would bring the farmers of the whole country together, outside, above and

NATURE'S REMEDIES FOR DISEASE.

Nature provides more effective remedies in the roots and herbs of the field than were ever produced from drugs.

Thirty years ago, Lydia E. Pinkham of Lynn, Mass., discovered and gave to the women of the world a remedy made from roots and herbs, which has proved more efficacious in curing women's diseases than any other medicine the world has ever known, and today Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is looked upon everywhere as the standard remedy for woman's ills.

beyond all sectional, church or partisan lines upon all of which they were then greatly divided. And so the Grange, child of peace, was born.

"Our Saviour said, 'Blessed are the peacemakers for they shall be called the children of God.' The blessing is promised to the peacemaker, and not to the warrior, nor to the conqueror. The Grange did a great work as a peacemaker and it has the blessing. And our order has still greater possibilities for good in aiding in bringing about world-wide and perpetual peace. Let it be remembered that the first national convention held in the south after the terrible war was the meeting of the National Grange in the city of Charleston, South Carolina, in January, 1875. And never did the National Grange have a more cordial reception, formally, officially, socially and in every way possible to show that our order was recognized as bearing in its hand, peace, gentle peace, and was spreading the bright bow of promise upon the dark clouds of the storm which had passed."

"Yes, the Grange on its mission of peace, did more and better work in really uniting the north and the south, and in bringing about a proper understanding among the people of both sections, than all the legislation, re-construction laws and other influences, the churches not excepted. To the day it pains me when I go into 'Dixie' to see, so often, two church buildings, sometimes standing in the same grove of trees, one of which bears the sign, 'M. E. church, North,' and the other, 'M. E. church, South,' and yet I have addressed gatherings of patrons with thousands present right in sight of said churches, still divided, while as members of our order they had come together and were true brothers and sisters united in heart and hand. 'Peace hath her victories as great as those of war.'"

"Our order is for peace when it declares: 'We hail the general desire for fraternal harmony, equitable compromises and co-operation,' and proclaims to the world as one of its precepts that 'we shall avoid litigation as much as possible by arbitration in the Grange.' And in thus inculcating and practicing this principle of arbitration our order is helping on the world-wide movement for arbitration rather than war between nations, and the bright days of universal peace, for peace rules the day when reason rules the mind."

"We can all do something in helping to stop the dying bullets by seeking to inculcate everywhere the Christ spirit, the true spirit of peace and the highest civilization, as against war—this last relic of brute force, the savage and barbarism. The Grange is creating a healthy public sentiment upon many great and important questions. It is an active haven, leaving up the whole hunk of public opinion. Let us, think peace, talk peace, act peace."

Grange and Tariff.
The Grange has taken a position upon many matters in the tariff revision. It has declared for free coal, free iron, and free lumber, and also for removing the duty upon other products manufactured in the United States and sold in a foreign country at a lower price than they are sold in our own country. It has also declared that the rate of duty upon any manufactured article should be no more than the difference in the labor cost of the article in this and in foreign countries. This is a position that cannot be challenged successfully by any advocate of tariff revision. Coal, lumber and iron enter largely into the industrial welfare of the country and when these are made free there will be greater freedom in industrial development.

The Grange has unanimously and emphatically declared for the creation of a permanent tariff commission. It regards the dickering at present going on in congress in tariff matters little less than a trading scheme upon a gigantic scale. The advocates of a higher tariff upon certain articles seem to be uniting with the advocates of a lower tariff upon certain other articles and if together they can command the votes to win, both propositions will be accepted. It is not so much a question of right and wrong, as a question of forming a strong combination. This may not be true in the consideration of all schedules, but it seems to be true in the consideration of many of them. The members from the east, who want higher duty on manufactured products and lower duty on wool and hides, will combine with the members from the west, who want higher duty on wool and hides and lower duty on manufactured products, and the sharpest traders will win. This is without much regard to the real merits of the case. The position of the Grange, which is the position taken by some of the ablest statesmen at Washington, is that there should be a permanent tariff commission to study the subject from a non-partisan standpoint and with regard only to the interests of the people of the entire country, the findings of which would have great weight in the con-

The Plain Truth About Refrigerators.

Insatiable manufacturers have turned the question "which make shall I buy?" into a very grave problem. It is easy to turn out a refrigerator that is a joy to the eye and a trap for the unwary. Of course—you prefer that yours shall be well finished, outwardly.

Quite right—you also want refrigerator goodness to GO CLEAR THROUGH. The only refrigerator you're justified in using should be scientifically constructed—easy to keep sweet and clean—and for your pocketbooks sake, NOT "an ice eater."

We set a high standard here—selling the sanitary, long-lived kind—for honest, easily-paid prices. Here follow dry facts about some refrigerators that you can TRUST!

Here are some facts about our North Star Refrigerators that you can trust. It is the most economical ice using refrigerator on the market; it is the only refrigerator insulated with granulated cork! Actual tests have proven that cork insulated refrigerators makes the ice last 1-4 longer than any other insulator. It is built so as to give the users the best possible results for their money. More than ten thousand of them are in use in the United States navy and army headquarters. Uncle Sam buys the best. We have them ranging in price from $7.50 to $10, according to size and finish.

THE WEATHER.

Washington, D. C., May 19.—For Ohio: Increasing cloudiness tonight; Thursday unsettled; showers in southwest portion.

A POWERFUL SERMON.

For five years there have been no saloons in the little city of Greenfield, Ohio, the people having voted them out, and revoted them out under the Beal law.

That being the situation, one who has listened to oral and read miles of written arguments by the pro-liquor associations and the liquor partisan press, to prove that where there are no saloons "dry rot" attacks business, and vacant mercantile rooms and dwelling houses are the only monuments to be found in a prosperous community, will be surprised to know that a different result has been attained in Greenfield.

Without drawing the liquor question into his statements even by inference the editor of the Greenfield Republican, presents a fine argument in rebuttal of the specious campaign canards of the liquor interests about business depression where there are no saloons, in the following statement made by him concerning present conditions in Greenfield.

"A peculiar and unusual condition confronts Greenfield. A condition which although flattering in its general tone of the business, push, enterprise and desirability of the city as a place of residence carries with it a serious problem, that in some manner will in the near future have to be solved.

"Here is a city of between five and six thousand people with daily and constant additions being made and practically not a vacant residence and positively not a vacant business house in the city. Joseph Cowman of the American Pad & Textile Co., who keeps in touch with these conditions, says that Saturday there were only four residences that could be rented and these were of the small four-room cottage variety and that for large families and other conditions that demand better and larger accommodations there is positively nothing to be had.

"One of the most difficult problems of some of the manufacturers is to secure sufficient help to meet their constantly increasing business. The American Pad & Textile Co. whose output now is 15,000 completed collar pads a day, are advertising all of the time for and encouraging in all ways, the class of people who will move here and make this their permanent homes, finding this the most satisfactory and desirable help to employ.

"While the excellent system of the Building Associations makes it possible for the wage earner to buy and own his home by making weekly payments that are not more burdensome than rent, it is not always convenient for a man of limited means to take advantage of it. The city requires more tenement property either flats or detached houses, and needs them bad. What is the answer?"

THE TOUR CONTEST.

The tour of Europe contest which the National Circulation company of Columbus put on for the Times-Democrat, and which has created greater and more intense interest than anything before the people of Allen County since the last presidential election, came to end last night, when the committee of prominent citizens and reputable business men canvassed the votes cast.

Only four could win the coveted prizes, and the fortunate ones were

They will leave in July for a five weeks tour of Europe, absolutely at the expense of the Times-Democrat Publishing Co.

There will be a large party on the Alban Line steamer sent by the publishers of the country, who have had the aggressiveness and publi-cizing spirit to offer tourists of Europe free to popular young ladies but there will be none who will surpass the Times-Democrat girls in intelligence, beauty, or in any quality that goes to make up attractive and popular young womanhood.

"We are proud of them now, and will be prouder of them when they return laden with the plaudits of their companions on the trip.

The office and field management of the contest was carried on by E. T. Rodgers of the National Circulation company, and we desire to congratulate him for the splendid ability he displayed in handling of it. He made the candidates work, but in doing so he never deviated from an absolutely fair and honest course, and that is fully known, not only to all the contestants, but to their army of friends, who are equally well satisfied that no one candidate had any advantage over any other in her own work, and that of her friends for her.

With the results that have been attained by the Times-Democrat as a publication, we are eminently satisfied, the contest having added 2,262 new subscribers to the subscription list, most of them for a period of one year, which means they will be permanent, for within less time than paid for, these new subscribers will recognize what thousands who are already on the list know, and that is, that the Times-Democrat is the only real live, up-to-date, honest-in-conscience publication in Lima.

To reach that pinnacle in the estimation of the people of Allen County, has required years of earnest effort, and hard work, the same as the fortunate contestants for the European tour put into effectiveness.

The defeated candidates, each and all made magnificent efforts to secure the coveted prize and being beaten in an open, fair fight, they are rejoicing in the splendid work

MURDER CASE
Will Come to Trial Next Month.

The case of the State of Ohio vs.
Frank Rodgers, with venue to trial here, and at Adamsburg, for the murder of Daniel W. Williams at the corner of West and Spring streets.

It was rumored that the prisoner would probably concede to enter a plea of guilty to manslaughter, but this rumor seems to be unfounded, as preparations for the trial continue.

The defendant maintains stoutly that he remembers nothing of the affair, and consequently cannot say that he committed a deed that he knew nothing of. It will be recalled that he walked into the police station about an hour after the crime was committed and asked for a night's lodging.

The fact is known also that both the prisoner and the murdered man were under the influence of liquor, and that their conduct was seen by a number of persons.

OUR BAXTER STREET
NEIGHBORS.Some Things the Spring-
Holzwarth Company Do NOT DO!!

The efforts of the would-be "Joker" of our Baxter street neighbors simply proves his origin, by quoting one of the greatest exponents of their home street. Before the "Jok-er" had hardly had his chair warm in Lima, he starts to belittle a legitimate business, conducted by a responsible concern. This simply shows their exact character, which has narrowed, until it could easily be pushed through the eye of any very small needle.

Having no respect for themselves, they are willing to go to any extreme to injure the business of any competitor.

It did not take the people of Massillon long to get next to the "Joker's" junk pile, and from what we can learn the Lima people are rapidly getting on to his fakes.

WE DO NOT fill our windows with well

WE DO NOT fill our windows with flashy

WE DO NOT sell underwear that has the

AFTER PHYSICIANS

Who Violate Vital Statistics Laws.

F. L. Watkins, state registrar of the bureau of vital statistics, is making a tour of the state, inspecting the work of the various deputies in the districts into which the state is divided.

It is understood that the conditions in several districts are very unsatisfactory and that the physicians are not sending in their reports, especially of births, as they should do. Mr. Watkins claims he will prosecute anyone whom he finds violating the law, and bring them strictly to time.

O. J. Rose, the local registrar, says he has had no word from the head of the bureau, but that with very few exceptions the reports sent in from this office have been entirely satisfactory.

With the Jury. Attorneys concluded their arguments in the damage case of Earl V. YOUNG GIRL

Died After Illness With Typhoid Fever.

Two weeks ago Josie Cecelia Kunkleman was attacked by a violent form of typhoid fever, and last night at ten thirty died from the disease, which has been virtually stamped out in the city during the entire winter. The deceased was just a little past sixteen years of age and was one of a large family of children, five sisters and four brothers surviving. She was the daughter of John W. and Maggie E. Kunkleman, and resided with her mother and brothers and sisters on the Spencerville road, near the power house. She had started to work for herself in the cigar factory just one week before she was taken ill, and had seemed vigorous and strong until the attack came on. Complications affecting the brain also developed after the fever began, and medical aid was not able to cope with them.

The funeral services will be held Thursday morning at ten o'clock at the residence, and Rev. Kelly, of West Carro, will officiate. Interment will be made in Woodlawn.

VILLAGE OF ALGER

Suffered Severe Loss from Raging Fire Late Tuesday Night.

FOUR BUSINESS HOUSES CONSUMED.

Local Department Could Not Render Aid Owing to Conditions.

The village of Alger sustained a severe loss from fire late Tuesday night, which will total about $33,000. Fire started in the Huston livery stable from some unknown cause and spread rapidly to adjoining buildings. The volunteer department fought valiantly with the flames and accomplished great results, as it appeared that the flames would consume the entire village. At 3:30 o'clock Wednesday morning a message was received by Chief Maurer asking for aid, but it was impossible to furnish the same, as the large engine went out of commission at the Tannery fire Monday and has not been repaired, while one of the pumps at the water works is being repaired, and it was necessary to keep the south side engine in readiness for any local trouble.

The horses were all saved from the Huston livery stable, but the building, buggies and harness were completely destroyed. The People's Guinifling company, with a stock of $9,000 in goods was consumed. The Keith meat market and hotel was also destroyed, some of the guests at the hotel losing their personal belongings in making a rapid escape. The Kirts Hardware company store was completely destroyed with an $18,000 stock of goods. The total loss of buildings and stock is estimated at $33,000.

Alger is the trading center for the onion growing business in the Scioto marsh.

George Phillips, a fireman, was killed.

Newark, Ohio, May 19.—It was Miller day in fact at Newark Tuesday afternoon, when Walter Miller, the spit ball artist of the Cigar-makers, let the Molders down without a hit, and outfielder Miller knocked a home run in the tenth, scoring the winning run. In the sixth Newark scored the first run of the game, when Abbott singled to short center, reached second on a passed ball, and third on a wild throw by Miller, scoring on Wratten's single to right field.

The locals did not land until the ninth, when Sykes put a clean single to left, Newham sacrificed, Walter Miller put one down the first base line, allowing Sykes to cross the plate. In the tenth, Reilly fanned and Outfielder Miller caught the sphere on the nose of his bat and sent it sailing over the right field fence. The Molders could not connect with Pennypacker's delivery in the tenth.

The situation was exciting in the ninth when the Molders had the bases full and two balls were called with Abbott at bat. Captain Fohl demonstrated his generalship at this juncture and used the derrick on Miller, substituting Pennypacker, who fanned Abbott, saving the game.

Game by innings.

First Inning.—Fink flew to Snyder, so did Reilly. Miller walked, Foutz grounded to Fisher. No runs.

Pinkey walked, Mack sacrificed to Sykes. Snyder flew to Foutz, Abbott lined to Newham. No runs.

Second Inning.—Fohl doubled to right field. Newham singled to center and Powers by a beautiful throw. Weller walked, Sykes flew to Snyder, a great catch. Miller fanned. No runs.

Davidson grounded to Fink, Wratten fanned, Fisher walked, Powers flew to Reilly. No runs.

Third Inning.—Fink walked and stole second. Reilly grounded to Fisher, Miller walked and stole second. Foutz and Fohl fanned. No runs.

Lloyd singled to left. Pinkey walked, McClintock fouled to Fohl, great catch. Snyder grounded to Weller, Abbott lined to Foutz. No runs.

Fourth Inning.—Sykes singled to center, Newham sacrificed to Lloyd, Weller grounded to Wratten, Miller grounded to McClintock. No runs.

Davidson grounded to Newham, Wratten singled to left and stole second. Fisher grounded to Sykes, Powers fanned. No runs.

Fifth Inning.—Fink walked, Reilly struck out, Miller grounded to Wratten, Foutz grounded to McClintock. No runs.

Lloyd fanned, Pinkey singled over third and was caught stealing, at second, McClintock flew to Fink. No runs.

Sixth Inning.—Fohl flew to Abbott, Sykes flew to Snyder who chased over to center to the ball, Newham flew to Powers, these were all circus catches. No runs.

Snyder grounded to Fink, Abbott singled to short center and went to second on a passed ball. Miller threw to second to catch him off and the throw was wild, Abbott going to third. Davidson fouled to Fohl, Wratten singled hard to right and Abbott scored. Wratten was caught stealing. One run.

Seventh Inning.—Weller grounded to Pinkey, Miller was safe when McClintock's bat threw to first after fielding the ball beautifully. Fink flew to McClintock, Reilly singled hard to right field and Abbott threw to third to catch Miller but the throw was late. Reilly bled for second and Wratten nailed him by a quick return throw to McClintock. No runs.

Fisher hit a punk single down the first base line and beat it out. Powers flew to Reilly, Lloyd grounded to Fink, Pinkey walked, Mack grounded to Fink. No runs.

Eighth Inning.—Miller walked, Foutz sacrificed to Lloyd, Fohl lined over to Wratten who threw quickly to Pinkey and caught Miller on the runback, completing a double play. No runs.

Snyder grounded to Newham, Abbott singled to right, Davidson was hit in the slats, Wratten tanned and Fisher hit one to Miller. No runs.

Ninth Inning.—Sykes hit a single to left, Newham sacrificed to Fisher, Weller grounded to McClintock, Pitcher Miller hit one down the first base line on a nice even hop, and Fisher instead of fielding the ball, allowed the ball to field him and trust to luck, with the result that he fumbled the ball and Miller was safe, while Sykes was across the plate like a flash and the score was tied. Fink hit up a fly which Snyder nipped. One run.

Newark had an excellent chance but fell down when the things looked brightest. Powers struck out, Lloyd singled to left. Fink hit one to Sykes who felled Lloyd out at second. McClintock hit a nice single to left.

Snyder walked and the bases were full. Miller was in distress, and the game looked sewed up for Newark when Abbott walked to the bat and immediately Miller served him two wide ones. Pennypacker who had been warming up was trotted out. After tossing five balls up he shot one over the middle and then another and the situation was changed then he threw a wide one, which made it three and two. The next ball was outside and up over Abbott's head, but he reached for it and touched off a foul. The next was straight through to the middle and the umpire couldn't do a thing but call back out on strikes which he did. If Abbott had only let the high one go the game would have been ours. It was a heart breaker to leave the sacks full.

Tenth Inning.—Reilly fanned. Outfielder Miller caught one of Lloyd's shots on the end of the bat and it went sailing over the right field fence for a home run. Foutz doubled to right center, Fohl grounded to Fisher, and Sykes popped one for Snyder. One run.

Davidson fouled to Fohl, Wratten singled and stole, Johns who replaced Fisher fanned and so did Powers. The score:

MONEY LOANED AT 6 PER CENT for building homes and other improvements with privilege of paying at any time. No interest charged beyond date of paying.

A new form of loan has been devised by the privilege of repaying the principal monthly in small payments. The many who have already obtained money under this plan have found it very profitable. Because every month a dividend is paid in the form of interest, how much is paid for interest and how much is paid for principal. There is also a plan showing every time a payment is made, how much of the principal is repaid. A plan so alworth while to discuss our plan with our

MEN WHO BUSY THEMSELVES TO BRING PEACE TO ALL NATIONS

In Conference at Mohonk Lake to Advance the Cause.

MURRAY BUTLER, PRESIDENT OF

Columbia University Was the First Speaker of Prominence.

Need of Organization Talked of by Professor Sam'l Dutton.

Mohonk Lake, N. Y., May 19.—The Lake Mohonk Conference on International Arbitration opened today. Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, and president of the American Branch of the Association for International Conciliation, presided. In his opening address, President Butler, referred to the progress toward universal peace made by the second Hague conference, but deplored what he described as present-day emotional insanity which resulted in war. The speaker cited the attitude of England toward Germany as an instance of unwarranted jealousy and declared that no adequate ground for British suspicions toward Germany had been given by any responsible persons. He continued: "The intensive application of the discoveries of theoretical science to industrial processes has made Germany, in a sense, the world's chief teacher in its great international school of industry and commerce. With this over-sea trade expansion has gone the building of a German navy. It appears to be the building of this navy which has so roused the passions of the English people. For the moment we are not treated to the well-worn paradox that the larger a nation's navy the less likely it is to be used in combat and the more certain is the peace of the world. The old Adam asserts himself long enough to complain in this case at least, that if a navy is building in Germany it must be intended for offensive use, and against whom could the Germans possibly intend to use a navy except against England? Their neighbors, the French and the Russians, they could readily, and with less risk, overrun with their great army. The United States is too far away to enter into the problem as a factor of any real importance. Therefore, the inference is drawn that the navy must be intended for an attack upon England. It is worth while noting that, on this theory, the German navy now building appears to be the first of modern navies intended for military uses. It alone of all the world's navies, however large, however costly, is not a messenger of peace.

"One must needs ask, then, what reason is to be found in the nature of the German people, in the declarations of their responsible rulers, or in the political relations between Germany and any other nation, for the belief that the German navy alone, among all modern navies, is building for a warlike purpose? Those of us who feel that the business of navy building is being greatly overdone, and that it cannot for a moment be reconciled with sound public policy, or with the increasingly insistent demand for social improvements and reforms, may well wish that the German naval programme were much more restricted than it is. But, waiting that point for the moment, what ground is there for suspicion which is so widespread in England against Germany, and for the imputation to Germany of evil intentions toward England? Speaking for myself, and making full use of such opportunities for accurate information as I have enjoyed, I say, with the utmost emphasis and with entire sincerity that I do not believe there is any ground whatever for those suspicions or for those imputations.

"But, says the objector, England is an island nation. Unless she commands the sea absolutely her national existence is in danger; any strong navy in unfriendly hands threatens her safety. That formula has been repeated so often that almost everybody believes it. There was a time when it was probably and within limits true. It is no longer true, and has not been true for some time past. In the first place, national existence no longer depends upon military and naval force. Italy is safe; so are Holland and Portugal, Mexico and Canada. Then, the possibility of aerial navigation alone, with the resulting power of destroying a population huddled beneath a monster traveling through the air and willing to risk its own existence and the lives of its occupants for the opportunity to inflict a vital injury upon another people, is saying nothing of the energy of electricity, have changed the significance of the word 'island.'

"The greatest present obstacle to the limitation of the armaments under the weight of which the world is staggering toward bankruptcy; the greatest obstacle to carrying forward those social and economic reforms for which every nation is crying out, that its population may be better housed, the public health more completely protected, and the burden of unemployment lifted from the backs of the wage-earning classes, appears to me to be the insistence by England on what it calls the two-power naval standard. This leads, and will inevitably lead, to huge programmes of naval construction in every nation where the patriotic and good sense of the people do not put a stop to this modern form of madness.

"It is the plain duty of the friends of both England and Germany—and what right-minded man is not the warm friend and admirer of both these splendid peoples?—to exert every possible influence to promote a better understanding of each of these peoples by the other, a fuller appreciation of the services of each to modern civilization, and to point out the folly, not to speak of the wickedness, of permitting the seeds of discord to be sown between them by any element in the population of either.

"The aim of all rational and practical activity for the permanent establishment of the world's peace, and for the promotion of justice, is and must always be the education of the world's public opinion. Governments, however popular and however powerful, have ceased to dominate, everywhere public opinion dominates governments. As never before public opinion is concerning itself with the solution of grave economic and social questions which must be solved afloat if the great masses of the world's population are to share comfort and happiness. A nation's credit means the general belief in its ability to pay in the future. That nation which persistently turns away from the consideration of those economic and social questions upon which the productive power of its population must in last resort depend, limits and eventually destroys its own credit. That nation which insists, in response to cries more or less inarticulate and to formulas more or less outworn, upon spending the treasure taken from its population in taxes upon useless and wasteful armaments, hastens its day of doom, for it impairs its credit or ultimate borrowing capacity in a double way. It not only expends unproductively and wastefully vast sums of the nation's taxes, but it substitutes this unproductive and wasteful expenditure for an expenditure of equal amount, which might well be both productive and uplifting. The alternative to press upon the attention of mankind that of huge armaments or social and economic improvement. The world cannot have both. There is a limit to man's capacity to yield up taxes for public use. Economic consumption is now heavily taxed everywhere. Accumulated wealth is being sought out in its hiding places, and is constantly being loaded with a heavier burden. All this cannot go on forever. The world must choose between pinning its faith to the symbols of a splendid barbarism and devoting its energies to the tasks of an enlightened civilization.

"The Need of More Effective Organization in the Peace Movement" was discussed by Professor Samuel Dutton, secretary of the Peace Society, of the city of New York, and principal of the Teachers' College of Columbia University.

After reviewing some of the influences and agencies tending toward peace, Professor Dutton said in part: "Speaking broadly, the world has attained peace. The common people in all civilized countries are utterly opposed to war. The nations also have taken official action toward peace. I need not recite the facts concerning the evolution of slavery and frankness in diplomacy, the promising results of the two Hague conferences, the treaty making activity of recent years, in which our own Secretary of State has taken so conspicuous a part, and the growth of international hospitality.

"The excellent resolutions passed at the late Chicago conference contain the following opening sentence: 'Resolved, that public war is now out of date, a relic of barbarism unworthy of our time, and that the nations of the world, by joint agreement, ought to make its occurrence hereafter impossible.' This is undoubtedly the sentiment of the majority of the people of the world.

"Two great impending dangers threaten nations today: First, the wild and feverish expenditure for armaments and navies, causing sensitiveness, suspicion and fear, and increasing the possibility of conflict. Second, the looting of the national treasuries and the conversion of the people's money to sinister purposes, and the certainty of impoverishment and misery to follow. Go to certain great cities in Europe and see that unspeakable brand of poverty which you find in certain quarters. You will see that the decadence of humanity has there gone far below the plane of original sin, and that the only hope for many lies in early death and the grave.

"We, as a nation, are young, strong and full of expectancy and hope. We have never been attacked. We are unique in being widely separated from the so-called military nations. Remembering our history, the ideals of our fathers, their faith in God and the responsibilities which ever accompany great gifts, have we not as a nation a duty to perform among other nations? Shall we simply become drunken with the glamour of war, or shall we set a manly and noble example of moderation and reserve and throw our vast influence in favor of extending arbitration treaties so as to make them include every question, throwing the bugaboo of 'national honor' to the winds?

"What are we doing? I have sufficiently recognized the good things already accomplished and undertaken in educating public sentiment. Much of this lacks effective guidance, and proper financial support, but the greatest need at the present time is seen in the fact that the sentiment of the country has not been crystallized and focused upon our rulers in Washington. Very little that is worthy has been done in that direction. No man or body of men, so far as I know, has accepted the responsibility of leadership in controlling and shaping legislation concerning war. If any great interest, like the Pennsylvania railroad, the United States Steel Corporation, Harvard University or the Catholic church, were to manage its affairs after the pattern of the Peace cause it would go into bankruptcy and into disfavor inside of six months. Neither the peace conferences nor the excellent resolutions which they pass touch in more than a superficial way the particular need to which I refer. It is distinctly a need of organization of such a kind that the people of this country have an adequate voice which can be heard at Washington—yes, at London, Paris and Berlin. Is this a government of the people, by the people

THE VALUE OF GOOD ROADS.

Statistics recently prepared by the Department of Agriculture and the Interstate Commerce Commission throw an illuminating light upon the manner in which the farmer robs himself each year by his refusal to maintain good country roads. The figures show that the railroad companies last year transported a total of $5,187,000,000 pounds of freight which originated on the farms and which was hauled an average distance of 5.4 miles from the farms to the point of shipment.

In France, the average cost of hauling produce from the farms is 13 cents a mile per ton. In this country it is 26 cents. If the roads in the United States were as good as they are in France, the farmers would have saved 13 cents a ton per mile on their produce last year, making a net gain to them of $58,900,000 on the more important crops. The department of Agriculture goes further and makes the claim that the farmers lose annually fully $300,000,000 on account of bad roads. Prosperous as the American farmers are they must be convinced that they are paying very dearly for the luxury of bad roads.—St. Paul Dispatch.

This is the state of man. Today he puts forth his new straw hat and wears his blushing ribbons thick upon him. NEW YORK ACTRESS

Parisian Sage Made Her Hair Grow Two Inches in Seven Months.

Of all the women in the world, an actress most ardently desires beautiful and luxuriant hair. And when her hair begins to fall out she becomes anxious, and intelligently seeks for a preparation that will stop the havoc, grow new hair and give life and beauty to the old.

Joan Sawyer, a clever, handsome actress, has this to say of Parisian Sage:

"To whom it may concern: Have tried most every hair tonic available, and at last Parisian Sage was recommended to me, and, as a last resource, used it to my entire satisfaction. My hair has stopped falling, dandruff stopped, and my hair has grown two inches in the last seven months. It is the best and only sure cure for thin and short hair I know."

—Joan Sawyer, 9 East 96th street, New York City.

Parisian Sage is the scientific hair restorer that has created such a sensation since its introduction into America about two years ago. It is such a quick-acting prescription that every agent who sells it will guarantee it to cure dandruff, stop falling hair, splitting hair, and itching scalp in two weeks, or money back.

It is the most delightful hair dressing in the world, and is highly praised by society women and actresses who have luxuriant and glorious hair.

It will turn harsh, lustreless hair into soft, silky and luxuriant hair in a few days.

Hunter Bros. is the agent for Parisian Sage in Lima and they sell it for 50 cents a large bottle, the largest bottle for the price on the market, may 12-14-18

Biliousness and Constipation.

For years I was troubled with biliousness and constipation, which made life miserable for me. My appetite failed me, I lost my usual force and vitality. Pepsin preparations and cathartics only made matters worse. I do not know where I should have been today had I not tried Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. The tablets relieve the ill feeling at once, strengthen the digestive functions, purify the stomach, liver and blood, helping the system to do its work naturally.—Mrs. Rosa Potts, Birmingham, Ala. These tablets are for sale by all druggists.

REAL REFORM.

General Leonard Wood has issued an order requiring the discontinuance "without the slightest violation or evasion of the custom of army officers to make use of enlisted men as servants, cooks, waiters and in other capacities. Good for General Wood! The army is not supported for the personal convenience of the officers alone. Soldiers employed as cooks and body servants are not required to do much military service, though of this there is no mention in the official reports.—Knoxville Sentinel.

MISS BERNICE CORE	DISTRICT NO. 4.	4,725

CHAS. E. DREDD, J. J. WEADOCK, FRED ZEITS, GUS KALR.

The foregoing official standing tells the story of the Times-Democrat's great personally conducted tour of Europe contest, in which the ballot-box ended, Monday evening at 9 o'clock, when the ballot box was turned over to the judges, sealed and put under lock and key until last evening, at 7:00, when the judges reconvened and began verifying and counting of the votes which were to decide the winners was begun.

It was after 11 o'clock before the judges completed their task and rendered their unofficial decision as to whom membership in the tour should go. Candidates and their friends began to assemble in the Times-Democrat office about 7 o'clock and from that time on until the judges announced their decision the office was well filled and on every hand the best of feeling prevailed. Nearly all were sure of success, yet there were three or four candidates, who, after the balloting ended, Monday evening, realized from the tips given out by their opponents, that they were defeated, still they had fought to the finish, and they had spunk enough left to be "in at the death." These candidates were among the first to congratulate their more fortunate opponents and to wish them a "bon voyage."

One of the most interesting features of the contest was the friendship of the rivalry between the candidates, and this good will was in stronger evidence when the winners were announced.

This fulfills the promises made by the Times-Democrat when the contest was started that marks a fitting close to one of the most interesting and honorably contested struggles for supremacy ever attempted. The leaders are proud of their success and those who made so aggressive a fight for leadership and failed have EVERY REASON TO AGREE THAT EVERY MOVE WAS AS FAIR AND HONORABLE AS THE STRICTEST CONSTRUCTION OF THE RULES AND CONDITIONS COULD DEMAND.

The features of the contest were so thoroughly noted during the progress of the contest that it is only necessary to state that the votes cast by the friends of the different candidates during the last hours of the balloting contained developments as surprising to the Times-Democrat as to any of the most interested in the outcome. The question was asked many times of the Times-Democrat: Who will win? and each time the answer is: It is impossible to tell. The managers of the project and those on the regular staff of the Times-Democrat knew no more than the general public, for everything which could be learned was told in the daily announcements.

One million, three hundred and thirty-five thousand eight hundred and twenty-six (1,375,826) votes were cast during the last minutes of the balloting, but as the judges were busy providing and counting the votes in a business-like manner, the ball canvass was completed and official announcement made of the result by 11 o'clock, last night.

Before the judges commenced the final canvass of votes the expression of the candidates as to the count of their votes up until Monday night and as to the fairness of the contest that far, was submitted to the judges in writing. Each candidate signed the statement to the effect: No question was raised or criticism offered by any of the candidates.

It was a great and successful contest—undoubtedly one of the most interesting ever known under similar circumstances, and it will go down in local history as one of the most hotly contested struggles of a friendly character ever known in this section. It was not only a highly successful contest in itself, but was a record breaker and record maker and established a new mark in the reaching of which all future efforts in journalistic contests of this character must be directed.

While the Times-Democrat congratulates the winners on their success and the other candidates on the excellent showing they made, it feels that it cannot overlook its own share of success. It has added to its list hundreds upon hundreds of new subscribers and certainly has reason for feeling proud of its largely increased subscription list. The Times-Democrat is greatly increased in its advertising value and there can be no doubt that its field of responsibility and usefulness to the county is greatly enhanced.

After all, the business men and advertisers of Lima—the men sending daily messages to the reading public through the columns of the paper—are the ones who will receive the most lasting benefit from the contest.

The Times-Democrat takes this opportunity of stating to its advertisers that this is only the beginning of its circulation expansion and that it will continue to grow bigger and better and cover a wider field of usefulness as the days go by.

The Times-Democrat also wishes to publicly thank the judges for their assistance at the close.

The official count of votes was made on the Burroughs adding machine which was kindly furnished by L. T. Konopka, agent, and the Times-Democrat wishes to thank Mr. Konopka for this favor. After the additions were made by machine, the count was rechecked by the judges.

From the Manager, Lima, Ohio, May 19th, 1909.

The Times-Democrat Co.

Gentlemen:—In closing my work in connection with your circulation campaign and particularly with the Tour-of-Europe Voting Contest, I desire to say that in my experience in conducting contests of this character, that this contest has been one of the most successful ever conducted by me.

The net gain in circulation for the Times-Democrat for the past six weeks must have been pleasing to you and is in itself a tribute to the popularity of the Times-Democrat under its present management which in my opinion is unmistakable.

I beg of you to accept my thanks for the many courtesies extended to me during my stay with you and you have my best wishes for your future, that of your employees and the Times-Democrat.

Yours sincerely, E. T. RODGERS, Contest Manager.

Card of Thanks.

To my friends who so loyally and generously aided me with their subscriptions and influence in the Tour of Europe contest I do hereby most sincerely tender my thanks.

ZOE CRITES, Elida, Ohio, May 19, 1909.

Thank!

I desire to express my sincere thanks and appreciation to all those who so kindly and loyally came to my assistance in the contest just closed, without which it would have been impossible for me to have won the delightful trip abroad in store for myself and for the other successful contestants. I want to also thank my competitors in District No. 2 and in fact the contestants in each district for their courtesy and fairness at all times during the progress of the contest, and while I cannot consistently say that I am sorry they did not win, I do wish it had been so that all could have enjoyed this trip.

Again thanking all who in any way contributed to my success, I beg to remain, Most sincerely, RACHAEL C. WICKERSHAM.

Grateful and Happy.

Naturally I am disappointed in my ambition to participate in the Tour-of-Europe which the Times-Democrat is going to give to the four winners in the contest, but there is one thing in connection with it I am more than glad and happy over, and that is the army of friends who so patriotically and unselfishly aided me in my efforts to land a prize. To all of them I express my sincere thanks, and I add that no one will more earnestly wish the fortunate ones a safe, pleasurable and profitable journey, than I will.

Again I wish to express my appreciation to my friends and to the Times-Democrat for its absolute fairness.

BURNED TO GROUND.

Rural Residence of Ben Bowersock Consumed.

At 12:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, the rural residence of Ben Bowersock, located about two miles west of the city on the Elm street road, in German township, was burned to the ground. The fire started between the summer kitchen and house proper, and it is presumed caught from a spark from the flue. All efforts to extinguish the flames proved futile and the building was completely consumed. The family, assisted by neighbors succeeded in getting nearly all of their furniture and belongings out of the house. The loss will amount to about $1,600, which is nearly covered by insurance.

ANOTHER OFFENDER.

Arrested on the Charge of Assault.

At 11 o'clock this morning Sergeant Armstrong arrested William Winfrey, who was wanted on the charge of assault. The defendant entered a plea of not guilty and the case was set for hearing Friday morning. Winfrey is charged with assaulting Baggageman Wirries of the Western Ohio Ry., at the time George Moss and the complainant had an argument at the station Monday evening. Moss entered a plea of guilty to the same charge and sentence was deferred until Thursday morning.

CHINATOWN.

Slavery at the Royal Theatre Tuesday Wednesday and Thursday.

This story is based upon actual occurrences which took place in San Francisco and is bound to excite more than ordinary interest, displaying as it does the workings of the Chinese who are always secretive.

Lee Chang, a Christianized Chinaman, sent to China for his sweetheart. She has no sooner landed in America than Chow Low a high class merchant pays a slave dealer a handsome sum to abduct her. Chang succeeds in gaining access to the room in which his sweetheart is imprisoned and is about to be successful in escaping when they are surrounded by their enemies, the girl recaptured and spirited away. Chang, however, making his escape. He is pursued to the Joss house, but frightens his pursuers by impersonating the Joss. The abductors are then traced to a Chop Suey joint, but when a raid is made on the place no girl is found. A trap door is discovered which leads to an underground river. One of Chow's clothes is forced to reveal the outlet and the police are driven hastily to this outlet, capture the abductors and return the girl to her sweetheart who loses little time in marrying her.

Full of mysteries and revelations not to speak of two ludicrous subjects. 8-21

From the advertisers' standpoint, one newspaper in the home is worth a dozen on the highway.

The Lima Times-Democrat is THE home newspaper of Lima.

SEVERE INJURIES.

Sustained by John Maxwell in Initiatory Work.

John Maxwell, the well known proprietor of the Pubst Depot, was the victim of a peculiar accident Monday evening, which will cause him to be laid up for a week at least. The "Big Chief" as he is better known, was a member of the degree team of the Lima Nest of Owls, who went to Delphos to put on the work in the institution of the order in that village, and as a part of the program, was delegated in the initiatory work to start a "rough house" in the progress of which a new mechanical "sparker" was used, which was arranged to explode a blank cartridge at the proper time. In the explosion the wad from the cartridge struck Maxwell in the left leg between the knee and the hip, inflicting a flesh wound an inch deep and an inch and a half in diameter. Physicians were called and dressed the wound immediately, and no serious results are anticipated.

ORPHICUM THEATRE.

The travesty on the death of Caesar and the haunting of the ghost is a burlesque that few equals. Chinese and Italian actors play a small part and the play is made up of the most hilarious thrown into the plot a conglomeration, yet in such a way as to make each a distinct humor and entirely different from the precursors. The Clayton players are, speaking pointedly, there "When Rome Howls" is the name of their playlet, and it brought not only laughter, but cheer. The entire show is excellent and draws immense houses.
